DALLAS COLLEGE OPEN HOUSE

Dallas County Trustee Dr. Catalina Garcia hosted an Open House to discuss the ways different governments are cooperating to best serve the community. Representatives from the City of Dallas, Parkland Hospital, Dallas and Dallas County were on hand to talk about the different projects that these governments are collaborating on.

Dallas County and Dallas College have forged a strong partnership aimed at enhancing the well-being of our community. Through collaborative efforts, numerous programs have been initiated that are designed to uplift residents and students and inspire lasting change. This partnership demonstrates the power of collaboration between educational institutions and our local government to positively impact the community.

AGAPE CLINIC HEALTH FAIR

Health fairs like the one at Agape Clinic offer numerous benefits to communities by promoting wellness and preventative care. These events provide accessible opportunities for individuals to receive free or low-cost health screenings, vaccinations, and information on various health topics, fostering early detection of medical conditions.

Health fairs contribute to improved health outcomes, increased awareness, and overall well-being, making them valuable tools for enhancing public health and community engagement.
