Texas Law Help: Community Justice Workers of Texas

<https://cjtxas.org>

What Community Justice Workers Do

- Share legal information
- Help people understand their rights
- Prevent small problems from becoming big ones
- Connect people to legal aid when needed

Too many Texans face legal problems without help. The Community Justice Worker (CJW) Program trains trusted community members to share reliable legal information and connect people with resources. This statewide initiative expands access to legal information and community resources by training trusted community members to serve as Community Justice Workers.
