FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: Dallas County DA's Office Co-Hosts 3rd Annual National Prosecutorial Data Summit

(DALLAS) – The office of Dallas County Criminal District Attorney John Kreuzot is proud to have served as co-host of the 2025 National Prosecutorial Data Summit on June 5-6, 2025, alongside the Association of Prosecuting Attorneys (APA) and the Deason Criminal Justice Reform Center at SMU Dedman School of Law. The event brought together national leaders to explore the cutting-edge application of data, artificial intelligence, and advanced analytics in prosecutorial work.

As an office committed to enhancing public safety and community well-being, District Attorney John Kreuzot recognizes that data is an essential tool in fulfilling its mission.

"Data-driven approaches are at the core of how we pursue justice, ensuring fairness, transparency, and efficiency in every case we handle," said DA John Kreuzot. "Our goal is to improve outcomes for all Dallas County residents by making evidence-based decisions that respect the dignity of everyone involved in the criminal justice system."

The two-day summit featured panel discussions and presentations focused on how technology and data analytics can improve case flow, office efficiency, and prosecutorial discretion. Sessions also addressed vital concerns such as security, privacy, and capacity-building for innovation in prosecutors' offices nationwide.

"Understanding how AI and Data intersect with justice is no longer optional -- it's essential. This summit helps prosecutors build the knowledge to lead with innovation, insight, and accountability, while enhancing the overall effectiveness of their offices." Added President of APA, David LaBahn.

The Dallas County DA's Office has a strong history of engaging in independent research to evaluate and enhance its processes and programs, reinforcing its pledge to evidence-based practices to reduce crime.
