Medical Reserve Corps can do more with you aboard!

A major public health emergency in Dallas County may require all of us to pitch in.

As a Medical Reserve Corps volunteer, you can be trained to support disaster medical response. You will be part of the public health resources relied upon to supplement the local emergency system already in place.

When considering how to spend volunteer time ...

please take a close look at your local Medical Reserve Corps. Train with other volunteers and become an effective supplement to the county's existing emergency medical response system.

Volunteer duties with the MRC include both ...

medical and non-medical roles. Citizens just like you, from all walks of life, have discovered volunteering with MRC to be a rewarding service to their community. You can too.

Donate your talents, experience and time ...

right here at home. In the event of a local major disaster, volunteers trained and pre-registered by the MRC may be needed. Duties can include medical screening, dispensing of medications, clerical support, administrative help, inventory management, plus other roles.
